It is the duty of an officer to follow the mandates of the statute. Of course, every officer must act at his peril under a statute that another party claims to be unconstitutional and void, but where a person will suffer an irreparable injury if the statute is carried out, the presumption is that such statute will be observed and that an injunction should issue to enjoin the enforcement of a void statute.

The sole purpose of the operation is to destroy the power of procreation. The operation as originally performed was that of castration.

There is a difference between the operation of castration and vasectomy; castration being physically more severe than the other. But vasectomy in its results is much the coarser and more vulgar. But the purpose and result of the two operations are one and the same.

Mrs. H. C. Flint, 76 years old, died late Tuesday afternoon at the Inglesame.

But each operation are one and the same.
But each operation is to destroy the power of procreation. It is, of course, to follow the man during the balance of his life. The physical suffering may not be so great, but that is not the only test of cruel punishment; the humiliation, the degradation, the mental suffering are always present and known by all the public and will follow him wheresoever he may go. This belongs to the dark ages.

Where Society Comes Ra.

As, of course, all persons concede that it would be better for society if some men did not beget datifestor dissamed, deformed, mentally weak children and criminally inclined are brought into the world, oftentimes to their own shame and against the interest of the public. But are they not in the minimum? And must the marriage relation be formed under these newly conceived laws based upon the brutalities of many centuries since and be allowed to take the place of the marriage relation formed along the true lines? Must the marriage relation be based and enforced by statute according to the teachings of the farmer in selecting his male animals to be mated with certain femals animals only?

There are two answers to this death, resignation, and expiration of terms of office will bring other men into the positions now held by the defendants who may not entertain the ame views as these defendants. The opinion of the attorney general is advisory only and is not at all binding on either these defendants or their successors in office.

Again, the statute in question provides that certain persons may be subjected to the surgical operation; but the latter part of section 1 provides that such operations shall be performed upon prisoners who have been twice convicted of a felony, such as the complainant.

It is the duty of an officer to follow the mandates of the statute. Of course, every officer must act at his peril under a statute that another party

The polls opened at § o'clock and were to close at 5 o'clock. Amendments to the state constitution relating to woman suffrage and the initiative and referendum were also voted upon.

TODAY'S MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago, June 24.—WHEAAT—Notwithstanding that the wheat market had already undergone a virtually straightaway break of 10 cents a bushel prices today suffered an additional smash. Weakness of cables combined with a further realization of the probable magnitude of the United States winter crop was responsible. Trading during the fresh decline showed decided activity and considerable excitement. Opening prices, which were a shade to lige lower were followed by a moderate raily.

Ideal harvest conditions in Nebraska where 40 per cent of the crop will be ready by next Monday, tended to keep the market depressed. The close was steady in next Monday, tended to keep the market depressed. The close was steady, is lower to it up, compared with last night.

CORN—Corn rose on account of the absence of selling pressure. Shorts were free buyers. After starting unchanged to ich higher, the market continued to ascend. Reports of low priced sales of Argentine corn at New York led afterward to a reaction. The close was steady at a shade to ich net decline.

OATS—Oats hardened with corn. Offerings proved to be quite limited.
